Consultation on the draft World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE) standards

The Office of the Australian Chief Veterinary Officer (OCVO) is seeking feedback from state and territory governments, veterinarians, and industry stakeholders on the draft World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE) terrestrial standards. The OIE standards are presented for comment by the OIE biannually.

Your feedback will inform Australia's position about animal health and welfare, and international trade in animals and animal products to provide to the OIE on 12 May 2022.
