New challenge of AEC: “Harmonization and capacity building of veterinary education, veterinary services & VSB to be ready for free movement of people, goods and services” ASEAN MRA on Veterinary Practitioner

Recommendations of AVSBN WS, 2020

- 1. ASEAN VEE accreditation standards should be established to support improvements in ASEAN veterinary services, enhance the health of animals and the public, protect the safety of food, and promote mobility and trade
- 2. The OIE Day 1 Competencies should be considered as a minimum standard for Pan-ASEAN VEE accreditation.
- 3. The AVBC could work alongside the AVSBN to develop accreditation standards to acknowledge the attainments of developed VEEs and stimulate the progression of less developed VEEs. The developed ASEAN VEEs and Australasian VEEs could partner in “tripartite” twinning programs with less developed VEEs.
- 4, The AVSBN should work closely with the SEAVSA and AQRF for the development of the ASEAN VEE Accreditation Body.

AVSBN's Recommendations

1. ASVBN encourage the members on announcing that the WOAH Day 1 Competencies is the minimum standard of Veterinary education in their countries.
2. How the veterinary schools will reach minimum standard, the AVSBN members should stimulate the vet schools on the preparing self evaluation report (SER) which could be accessed by using the OSU/UoG Evaluation Tool supported by WOA

Evaluation Tool for OIE Day 1 Graduating
Veterinarian Competencies

The image shows a screenshot of the evaluation tool interface. It includes a table for 'c) Outbreak Investigations' with columns for 'Competency', 'Observed', 'Not Observed', 'Comments', and 'Remarks'. Below the table are three bar charts for 'Faculty', 'Students', and 'Stakeholders', each showing percentages for 'H', 'M', 'I', 'NC', and 'NA' categories. The OSU logo and 'THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE' are visible at the bottom right of the tool interface.

Overview

The entities associated with ASEAN are accredited organisations that abide by the purposes, principles, policies, guidelines and other decisions of ASEAN. Accredited entities are obliged to support ASEAN's objectives and purposes. These entities are listed under Annex II of the ASEAN Charter. ASEAN engagement with associated entities is prescribed in Article 16 of the ASEAN Charter, and guided by the Rules of Procedures and Criteria for Engagement for Entities Associated with ASEAN and its Annexes.

Within ASEAN's context, there are five (5) classifications of associated entities, namely: a) Parliamentarians and Judiciaries; b) Think Tanks and Academic Institutions; c) Civil Society Organisations; d) Business Organisations; and e) Other Stakeholders.

The entities associated with ASEAN enjoy several privileges which include the authorisation to use ASEAN name, emblem, flag and anthem in its work, among others. These privileges are granted to help accredited entities carrying ASEAN messages to support ASEAN's objectives and purposes. Additionally, accredited entities are also given the opportunity to access ASEAN Development Fund through the ASEAN Project Cooperation Management. Integral to these privileges, the entities are obligated to respect diversities within ASEAN as well as particularities of individual ASEAN Member State, comply with the prevailing national laws and regulations of the concerned ASEAN Member State where its activities/ programmes take place. They are required to submit annually a written summary of its activities and completed financial statement to the Committee of Permanent Representatives through the ASEAN Secretariat.

The digital platform for entities is created to elevate the entities' engagement with ASEAN Secretariat, and between accredited entities. In this platform, accredited entities may publish information about their events and publications, and engage in discussion for collaboration among themselves. Further, this platform also enables accredited entities to communicate directly with the ASEAN Secretariat and other entities in a real-time basis. Accredited entities will receive a username and password to access this platform, and can edit their own profiles according to their preference.

By maximizing the use of this platform which is administered by ASEC, accredited entities will be kept abreast with the latest updates from ASEAN and fellow accredited entities. It is designed to facilitate direct engagement between the entities and ASEAN, and among the entities themselves.
